Biography

Melanie V. Slaton's civil litigation practice emphasizes labor and employment law, including employment discrimination and employment harassment. Since 1988, she has tried more than 40 cases in California and Georgia, recording impressive results for private and government clients. She also specializes in education, including representing Muscogee County School District in teacher non-renewals, student tribunals, and discipline issues as well as special education matters.

Melanie's litigation experience includes complex class actions in both state and federal court. Melanie is the Chair of Hall Booth Smith's Labor & Employment practice. She has extensive experience defending employers in individual and class action wage and hour, discrimination, and harassment claims, as well as in arbitrations and mediations. She has argued in front of the California Court of Appeal and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit, and she is a member of the bar of the United States Supreme Court.

Before moving to Georgia in 2005, Melanie was a Senior Attorney with the California Labor Department, Division of Labor Standards Enforcement for five years. Prior to her work with the Department of Labor, she was a partner in a Los Angeles labor/entertainment firm for 12 years, representing both plaintiffs and defendants in a number of high-profile cases.

She has represented clients in disputes with both state and federal agencies, including the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the U.S. Department of Labor, the Georgia Department of Labor, and the U.S. Education Department's Office of Civil Rights and the Office of Federal Contract Compliance.

Melanie has assisted in conducting workplace internal investigations and has substantial experience counseling companies and government entities undergoing major involuntary workforce reductions. She has also been recognized by Georgia Trend Magazine as a Legal Elite in the practice specialty of Labor & Employment. Melanie is a 1988 graduate of Berkeley Law School and is a Board Member of Columbus Scholars, Inc. and the Board of the Columbus Museum of Art.
