Biography

Alexandria Suarez serves as Of Counsel in the firm's Miami office, where she focuses her practice on medical malpractice and complex business litigation. She brings extensive experience advising and representing clients across a variety of practice areas, including medical malpractice and healthcare law.

Ms. Suarez's healthcare experience ranges from serving as counsel in compliance, licensing issues, and administrative proceedings to litigating complex healthcare matters with government agencies and partner disputes. She prides herself is defending healthcare providers and corporate clients in complex disputes while providing strategic counsel on risk management and regulatory obligations. Her litigation experience includes handling matters before Florida state courts across Central and South Florida, as well as the state's Division of Administrative Hearings in Tallahassee.

Prior to her work with HBS, Ms. Suarez led an in-house and trial practice through her own firm, where she advised corporate clients on corporate transactions, employment matters, and risk management. Her practice combined transactional counsel with
