Biography

Diana is an associate in our Paramus office, focusing her practice on construction and general liability matters.

Before joining HBS, Diana interned at a prominent class action firm and at a leading medical technology company. Prior to her legal career, she served as a physical health fellow at Covenant House, where she provided healthcare and advocacy for homeless youth. Her commitment to this cause continues today, as she remains actively involved with the organization. She also gained critical emergency response experience as an EMT with Ridgewood Emergency Services, where she developed strong problem-solving and crisis management skills.

Diana earned her Juris Doctor from Fordham University, where she was an active member of the Environmental Law Review and served on the Board of Student Advisors. She received her Bachelor of Arts, magna cum laude, in Psychology from Boston University, where she held leadership roles in several student organizations and contributed to campus initiatives.

Born and raised in Bergen County, Diana enjoys exploring all that her community has to offer. Outside of work, she is passionate
