Biography

Ethan Rudnicki is an associate in our Nashville office, where he practices in a variety of areas of law. Previously a summer associate with HBS, Ethan gained valuable experience working on insurance defense, medical malpractice, and government liability cases and was a part of various stages of litigation. He was also an extern at Tenants Law Firm, a non-profit dedicated to protecting tenants' rights, allowing him to help individuals and families secure safe and adequate housing by addressing complex legal issues affecting their well-being. At another Atlanta based law firm, where he was a summer associate, he focused on labor and employment law, working on cases involving workplace discrimination, compliance, and employee rights. As a summer associate at another Atlanta based law firm, he focused on labor and employment law, working on cases involving workplace discrimination, compliance, and employee rights.

Ethan earned his Juris Doctor, cum laude, from Georgia State University, where he was a national finalist for the Lefkowitz Moot Court Competition in Washington D.C. He completed his Bachelor of Arts at The University of Georgia, graduating magna cum laude. In addition to his legal work, he was honored to be selected for the
