Biography

Felix B. Kloc is an associate in our Brunswick office, focusing his practice in appellate, general liability, medical malpractice, and premises liability matters.

Before joining HBS, Felix gained experience as an associate at an international family law firm, where he represented clients from all parts of Georgia as well as clients needing help with international family law matters. He has also worked in plaintiff's litigation, overseeing personal injury cases at both federal and state levels. While in law school, Felix externed with the Honorable Christopher J. McFadden of the Georgia Court of Appeals and served as an intern with the U.S. Department of Education’s Office of Hearings and Appeals. Prior to attending law school, he worked for a non-profit organization in Nantes, France, where he helped to facilitate cultural, educational, and sporting exchanges between France and the United States, broadening his understanding of international relations.

Felix earned his Juris Doctor, with honors, from Emory University and his Bachelor of Science, summa cum laude, in International Affairs and History from Florida State University, where he was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa as a junior.
