Biography

Brent Allen is the Managing Partner of Hall Booth Smith's Jacksonville, Florida, office and Chair of the firm's Opioid Strategic Team. He has also served on the firm's Executive Committee since 2020.

He is a seasoned civil trial lawyer and specializes in the litigation of batch claims, high exposure cases including malpractice, commercial litigation, long-term care, negligent security, and premises liability on national, regional, and local levels. He has represented prominent corporations, nonprofits, and individuals in their most challenging civil cases, including at jury and bench trials, before arbitration panels, and governmental investigations.

He regularly advises senior executives and boards of directors in internal governance issues. Brent has been retained by national clients and appointed by State and Federal Courts to serve as lead counsel in various matters. Most recently, Brent served as lead counsel in one of the nation's largest batch malpractice claims of all time.
