Biography

Jordan Bracewell is an associate attorney in the Atlanta office of Hall Booth Smith. She focuses her practice on medical malpractice and health care matters, representing health care providers and other clients in complex civil litigation.

Prior to joining the firm, Jordan developed a broad legal foundation through experience in both litigation and transactional practice. She began her legal career in Central Georgia, where she handled residential real estate transactions, estate planning, probate administration, and traffic court matters.

During law school, Jordan gained experience in healthcare defense litigation through multiple summer associate positions. Her experience also included matters involving insurance defense, business law, education law, zoning, and appellate matters. In addition, Jordan served as a judicial extern to the Honorable then-Chief Judge Marc T. Treadwell of the U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Georgia.

Jordan earned her Juris Doctor, cum laude, from Mercer University School of Law. She served as Articles Editor for the Mercer Law Review, Chief Justice of the Student Bar Association Honor Court, a
