Biography

Laurel Landon is Of Counsel in the Augusta office, where she focuses her practice on general liability, labor & employment, medical malpractice, and workers' compensation matters.

With more than 25 years of litigation experience, Laurel brings a deep understanding of complex civil and employment disputes, as well as medical malpractice defense. She represents clients across a range of industries, providing strategic counsel and effective advocacy from pre-litigation through resolution.

Before joining HBS, Laurel practiced at an international law firm, where she concentrated on medical malpractice defense and commercial litigation. Her work there involved defending health care facilities and health care providers in high-stakes matters, as well as handling complex business disputes.

Laurel earned her Juris Doctor and Bachelor of Science in Education from the University of Georgia.
