Biography

Michael Haigler is a Partner in our Jacksonville, Florida, office and focuses his practice on the representation of health care providers, including physicians, mid-level providers, and their respective practice groups along with health care institutions. Michael has successfully defended health care providers in both jury trials and arbitration proceedings throughout Florida. In addition to medical malpractice defense, Michael has represented clients in all phases of complex commercial litigation.

Michael has defended individuals, small business owners, local school boards, universities, insurance carriers, and national corporations. He has also handled favorable appellate cases before the North Carolina Court of Appeals. Additionally, Michael's practice includes advising insurance carriers on coverage, coverage related issues, and opinions related to the same.
