AGING SERVICES

HBS offers comprehensive services for health care professionals, facilities, and insurers across the continuum of care so they can do what they do best: care for patients.

OVERVIEW | SOLUTIONS | IN THE PRESS

Overview

Federal and state government involvement in the regulation of aging services is significantly more aggressive than in any other segment of the health care delivery system. At HBS, we understand the liability implications created by this heightened regulatory environment. We recognize the issues facing aging service providers and can both predict and track trends that shape the industry. We've built this knowledge and expertise through a focused familiarity with aging service clients; in fact, most of the members of the Aging Services group are completely specialized, only representing aging service providers. We are frequently called upon to share our knowledge with providers.

This dedication, focus, and experience gives our attorneys a real edge.

Our aging service attorneys are familiar with the latest regulatory changes that impact litigation and constantly monitor developments across the country to best gauge our approach. We not only practice within the states that we have offices but also frequently consult on out-of-state cases.

In short, we believe that by dedicating a team of committed professionals to focus on the aging services industry, we can attain favorable outcomes for our clients.
