

HALL BOOTH SMITH, P.C.

ENERGY, REGULATORY, & UTILITIES

HBS offers a team of highly experienced attorneys across legal disciplines with a focus on the unique business or personal needs of each client.

Overview

Our clients include municipal and investor owned utilities, joint action agencies, electric cooperatives, industrial end-users, independent power producers, and natural gas companies. The practice encompasses representation of clients before federal and state regulatory agencies whose actions shape the energy business and other regulated clients including the following:

- Georgia Public Service Commission
- State and Federal Courts including Appeals
- Georgia General Assembly and Congress
- Georgia State Ethics Commission
- Georgia Department of Community Affairs
- Georgia Department of Natural Resources
- Georgia Environmental Protection Division
- Georgia Department of Revenue
- One Georgia Authority
- Department of Energy
- Federal Communications Commission
- Federal Energy Regulatory Commission
- U.S. Department of Agriculture

HBS attorneys have been long known for our successes before administrative and regulatory agencies. We also regularly undertake those actions in both federal and state jurisdictions that determine the success of our clients. We are often hired as special counsel on appeals of adverse agency or court decisions. In all instances, we seek to ensure that our clients' interests are made
